

Half Life

Glen Phillips

Count down the rings or pick up the phone
But shes sure to know youre not alone
More on the side, less at the home
Dust and dry earth, where a garden should grow
Its your decision now
To give love or just get out
Dont be another half life in this house
Why did you come here? What did you want?
You did somethin' right, just look what you've got
Well you can fake it at work, fake it for friends
Not for your children or the woman you wed
And its your decision now
To give love or just get out
Dont be another half life in this house
Dont be another half life in this house
But I know youve got it in you
Let it go and just let her in to you
Theres dirt in your nails and blood on the floor
You play for the angles, you play what you know
So make your decision now
Dig in or get the hell out
Dont be another half life in this house
Youll be another half life in this house
Dont bring another half life to this house
But I know youve got it in you
Just let 'em into you
Why cant you let 'em in?
Why cant you let 'em in?
