

Your Own Personal Mountain

Us, Ghosts

Your only making this harder than it needs to be, Why don't you see?
I'm the king of my world, And I'll never fall to my knees.

I'd appreciate leaving this peacefully.
But your choice is clear by which you need,
A fire to burn all the victims you take.
And an audience to breathe in the dust that you make.
So listen close and mark my words
If you thought you'd be king, you have much to learn.
This is my crown. It can never be yours.

Don't think you can walk after the things you have done,
And lives you have ruined.
For all the families you tore,
I'll make you wish that you were never born.

I won't step down, This is my crown.
So you can never take it away,
Take it away, From me.
I won't back down, I won't back down.
For this is my throne, This is not theirs.
This is my own.
Why don't you see? Why don't you see?
You'll never be the king of me.
King of me, You're a..
Fucking disgrace, You make me sick.
It's time to pay for what you did,
What you did.

For all the lives that you have ruined for your gain,
All of the people that you left in pain.
Your nothing with nothing and this will never change,
No one will even remember your name.

I'd appreciate leaving this peacefully.
But your choice is clear.
