She Holds A Grudge

Jet

She holds a grudge like no other woman I ever met before
Yeah, there are some tears, then after it's like a million years
Well, she comes around but I can't tell if she let herself be held
I gotta do something sometimesOnce in my life I'm gonna say sorry before I die, yeahWhen I'm alone, well I don't feel I think too much
Well I don't know enough, no one's right all the time
I gotta do something sometimesOnce in my life I'm gonna say sorry before I die
Baby I'm sorry, so sorry, I apologize
Babe when I hold you then you will know you're my womanBelieve me it is the only way
Don't leave me, hear what I say
Yeah, carry me back home, back homeFor once in my life I'm sorry, I apologize
Babe please don't tell me that all you see is black, no
And when I hold you then you will know you're my woman
