

Ready, Set, Go!

Tokio Hotel

We were running through the town
Our senses have been drowned
No place we haven't been before We learn to live and then
Our freedom came to an end
We have to break down this wall Too young to live a lie
Look into my eyes Ready, set, go, it's time to run
The sky is changing, we are one
Together we can make it while the world is crashing down
Don't you turn around We are looking back again
All loneliness and pain
Never been so wide awake Breathe slowly in and out
Somewhere behind the clouds
I can see the morning break Too young to live a lie
Look into my eyes Ready, set, go, it's time to run
The sky is changing, we are one
Together we can make it while the world is crashing down
Don't you turn around Leave it all behind you now
The final wall is breaking down
We are what it's all about
Nothing can stop us now I promise you right now
I'd never let you down Ready, set, go, it's time to run
The sky is changing, we are one
Together we can make it while the world is crashing down
Don't turn around Ready, set, go, it's time to run
The sky is changing, we are one
Together we can make it while the world is crashing down
Don't you turn around Don't you turn around
Don't you turn around
