Pale Flag

Katatonia

Our burden fell down,
once shared but waged war on my mind.
So told my love farewell now.
No loyalty to find.
When you vanish over the skies.I am forsaken beneath the ground I lie.
Was banished from this hurtful life.
I am forlorn, all dreams have turned to strife.
Winter winds take flight,
circling over my grave.A haunting voice amidst the trees,
rising up across the sea.
You vanish over the skies.
I am forsaken beneath the ground I lie.Was banished from this hurtful life.
I am forlorn, all dreams have turned to strife.
You vanish over the skies.
Survival, it was destined for your name.
