

Something Must Break

Ninety Pound Wuss

something must break, something must break, something must break yeah.

something must break, something must break, something must break.

in this country ruled by hate there's no way out.

we can't escape bitter lies, and emptiness.

swarming mass contagiousness.

the president speaks, we think he's right.

the media brainwashed us all you see.

i speak the truth they call me insane.

they lock me up and pick my brain.

i'm not a vegan, i'm not P.C.,

because i'm not they won't listen to me.

who's gonna break? not me (6x)

who's gonna break? not me.

who's gonna break? not me.

who's gonna break? not me.

who's gonna break? not me.

who's gonna break? not me.

who's gonna break the system?

we're gonna fight till we die.

something must break, something must break, something must break yeah.

something must break, something must break, something must break.

abortion clinics overflow with apathy for birth control.

they steal our money for their scam.

overthrow... let's beat the man...

they wanna steal our guns away.

make what's wrong seem so much better

and regulate our freedom.

and regulate our freedom.

and regulate our freedom.

we need something to break,

we need to take charge right now.

something must break, something must break, something must break yeah.

something must break, something must break, something must break yeah.

something must break, something must break, something must break.

who's gonna break? not me (6x)

who's gonna break the system?

we're gonna fight till we die.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>