

You Surprise Me

Call Me No One

You have some devastation around you always
Nothing more here cling to save the day
Put you down like a man on his death bed
Where are you, how could disappear into thin air
Your resistance
Is too much here
Your the only choice and I don't care
Im so wreckless
But i love how you still suprise me
You separated yourself from the light of the world
Your smiles so expensive it must be fun
So just take what you want - I have nothing left
