

Single Moment

Satellite Soul

The sun goes down around me here, and somewhere else it's rising once again
The air that fills my lungs to full can somehow cause a breeze to pull a ship to land
There is not a single moment that you don't see
There is not a single moment that you're not here
With me
And every thought I had today
Well you knew what they'd be before they were
And every heart that beats in time
Well what you are is sure to find your voice
Is heard
There is not a single moment that you don't see
There is not a single moment that you're not here
With me
Though I try and do my best
So often now I must confess you're all
As sure is this the air I breathe
You made a plan for my reprieve
To me, You Are
There is not a single moment that you don't see
There is not a single moment that you're not here
With me
There is not a single moment that you don't see
There is not a single moment that you're not here
With me

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>