Fake a Smile

Radford

Time of your life
Can you make it count without a sound?
There's no one that makes you feel like a someone
With your naked lies and your frozen eyes'Cause it's too late to say you're sorry
It's too late to understand
All of the times you make me worryWhen the night feels like it's loaded
Well the wasted day and the trace of decay
And you're somewhere, it sometimes feels like you're nowhere
Deaf on a cold freeway, is that your only way?'Cause it's too late to say you're sorry
It's too late to understand
All of the times you made me worry
All of the times that I tried to fake a smileHave you ever needed someone else?
And the feeling never fades
Have you ever had it pulled away from you
Till there was nothing left to take?It's too late to say you're sorry
It's too late to understand
All of the times you made me worry
All of the times that I tried to fake a smile
That I tried to fake a smile, just to get by Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/