

Faithfully

Jovit Baldivino

Some say it's just the nature of the beast
When you love somebody so passionately
    Time has a way of stealing
        That raging fire you're feeling
        Leaving the ashes laying at your feet
    Those fools of little faith will never know
        Those higher places two hearts can go
        Where time is standing still
        And love will burn until
    The heaven and the earth have come and gone
This fire inside for you is constant as the morning star
    And you will be forever in my heart
        As long as there's a river
        Searching for an endless sea
    I will always love you, faithfully
    Tonight we'll raise a glass to lovers across the ages
        We'll hold each other and toast to the day
        When history's said and done
        And we'll still stand as one
    Somethings were never meant to fade away
This fire inside for you is constant as the morning star
    And you will be forever in my heart
        As long as there's a river
        Searching for an endless sea
    I will always love you, faithfully
    This fire inside for you is constant as the morning star
        And you will be forever in my heart
        As long as there's a river
        Searching for an endless sea
    I will always love you, faithfully
