

Julie

Levellers

Julie was a lonely girl
She said, "She was born that way"
She always felt that wayShe left home at age sixteen
Got a job what you're supposed to do
That's what you've got to doShe fell in love and settled down
In a council place
There on the edge of townShe'd feel alone in a crowded room
Cry when she heard a happy tuneWell, it would be nice to holiday
Till they took her job away
They just took her life awayDoing nothing isn't fun
When you've nothing from witch to run
Yeah, nowhere left to runShe'd visit the social every day
Every time be turned away
Every time be turned awayShe'd feel alone in a crowded room
Cry when she heard a happy tuneA hundred stairs to her new room
Over glass and blackened spoons
Children grow old so soonPast the kids who gather there
Pain masked by narcotic stares
But no one really caresHer dreams were cut up and bled dry
A million voices in her cry
Julie waits, her world is her windowsAnd Julie hates, just what she doesn't know
But Julie hates, she hates the world below
But Julie loves, she loves too much to know
