Moon and Back

121 North

Run my fingers through your hair,
See you're reflection dancing on the window pane,
Tell you I love you in so many ways,
Telling you my love, my love will always stay,

You're standing close to me,
You look into my eyes, I ask you what you see,
You say you see a man that wants to chase his dreams, but wants you there,
All I can do to you is stare,
Cause I love you to the moon and back,
Just know that wherever I go, that I'll always come back,
If you're ever wondering if I'm ever coming home, just look up at the moon and see me staring right back at you,

I see you in my dreams,
You are always right there laying next to me,
Then I wake up back in reality and you were gone, sitting in this hotel room alone,
Cause I love you to the moon and back,
Just know that wherever I go, that I'll always come back,
If you're ever wondering if I'm ever coming home, just look up at the moon and see me staring right back at you,

Whoaaaaaaaaa ohhhhh

Cause I love you to the moon and back,
Just know that wherever I go, that I'll always come back,
If you're ever wondering if my love is coming home, just look up In the sky and realize I love you to the moon and back, to the moon and back.
