Jealous Guy

Art Brut

You want to sleep and I do too
But I can't because I've got something to prove
I should be flattered that you feel like this Satisfied by just a goodnight kissI can't sleep because I've started to question
Whether your ex-boyfriends let you get this much resting
I'm not going to let you sleep
I'm pulling on blankets and tugging on sheetsIn the morning you'll still be here
But you're sleeping now, you've made that clear
I should be flattered that it's come to this
Where you're satisfied by just a goodnight kissI'm not going to let you sleep
I'm pulling on blankets and tugging on sheets
I'm not going to admit defeat
I'm pulling on blankets and tugging on sheetsYou're asleep, I wish I was too
But I can't because I've got something to prove
I tried to wake you with a really loud cough
I accidentally set your alarm clock offI can't sleep because I've started to question
Whether your ex-boyfriends let you get this much resting
I'm not willing to admit defeat
I'm pulling on blankets and tugging on sheetsIn the morning you'll still be here
But you're sleeping now, you've made that clear
I should be flattered that it's come to this
Where you're satisfied by just a goodnight kissI'm not going to admit defeat
I'm pulling on blankets and tugging on sheets
I'm not going to let you sleep
I'm pulling on blankets and tugging on sheetsI should be flattered that it's come to this Where you're satisfied by just a goodnight kissIn the morning you'll still be here
But you're sleeping now, you've made that clear
I'm not going to admit defeat
I'm pulling on blankets and tugging on sheets

Songwriters
EDDIE ARGOS, FRIEDERIKE SIEPE, JASPER FULCHER, IAN STUART WILSON, MIKE BREYERPublished by Lyrics Â© RESERVOIR MEDIA MANAGEMENT INC

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/