

One in a Row

Buddy Jewell

Am I dreaming or is that the morning sunlight shining in
I can't believe it, I was so sure my world was comin' to an end

I may never live to see the day your memory lets me go

But I made it through the night and that's one in a row
My heart's still beatin', even though it's broken right in two

So the odds are even, there's still some hope that I'll get over you

Will I make it through the day? Girl it's hard to say I just don't know

But I made it through the night and that's one in a row
One less endless night without you
Missin' everything about you until dawn

One more sunrise to remind me

To leave yesterday behind me 'cause it's gone
This is only the beginning and I've got a lifetime to go

But I made it through the night and that's one in a row

Will I make it through the day? Girl it's hard to say I just don't know

But I made it through the night and that's one in a row

Yeah I made it through the night and that's one in a row
