

Good Girls

Crystal Fighters

Do you ever get tired of feeling alone?
When the lights come on and there's no one at home
She said she wanted to break out, to break outta here
And I believed every move she made (she made)
She said she knew an easier way outta here
And I believed every word she said
I woke up this morning, had a funny feeling
Last thing I remember we were beautiful
The sun came up and God, she had left me nothing
Where have all the good girls gone? Whoa, whoa
Where have all the good girls gone? Hold tight, my love, and the stars will appear
All the words she said when she shot me right here
She said she knew an easier way outta here
And I believed every word she said
I woke up this morning, had a funny feeling
Last thing I remember we were beautiful
The sun came up and God, she had left me nothing
Where have all the good girls gone? Whoa
I woke up this morning, had a funny feeling
Last thing I remember we were beautiful
The sun came up and God, she had left me nothing
Where have all the good girls gone? Whoa
Where have all the good girls gone?
Where have all the good girls gone?
Where have all the good girls gone? I woke up this morning, had a funny feeling
Last thing I remember we were beautiful
The sun came up and God, she had left me nothing
Where have all the good girls gone? Whoa
I woke up this morning, had a funny feeling
Last thing I remember we were beautiful
The sun came up and God, she had left me nothing
Where have all the good girls gone? Whoa
Where have all the good girls gone?

Songwriters

JAMIE SCOTT, SEBASTIAN PRINGLE, GILBERT VIERICH, JONNY COFFER
Published by
Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Universal Music Publishing Group
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>