Everybody Down

Matthew

there is no standing room for you there is no better way to prove just broken pieces of a broken vase that used to hold me we breathe and blow another kiss is there no better way to tiss to break the bonds to breathe the innocencea little baby cries he tries to understand this world that left him down this one he left behind I thought you were better but you you didn't even know himyou didn't have the time you didn't seem to mind another building breaks throwing everybody downwhat were we hoping to become we seemed so different from above the sky would fall if only we'd opened up our eyes to see it we breathe and blow another kiss is there no better way to miss to break the bonds to bring me innocence I thought that you should knowyour skin is cold like mine I wanted you to stay but you wanted me to go and so we say goodbye to this ornamental momentwe didn't have the time we didn't seem to mind another building breaks
throwing everybody down
this is the game we play this is the life we save and so we turn the page on another momentyou didn't have the time
you didn't seem to mind
another building breaks
throwing everybody down
this is the game we play
this is live we save and so we turn the page on another moment

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/