

John Young

Morton Valence

Driving with Saint Saviour
In a big old car
Curling up through the stars and his arms could tear you up and never waiver
There once was a fire
On Jacaranda Hill
He pulled a girl from the flames nobody caught his name and he was gone

John Young
Ah ah
John Young, he's gone, bang bang, long gone

Their love is average
Their treachery is pure and they long for a day that never happened anyway, John Young They stand and watch us burning as they pass on their way but these flames are gonna burn through their hearts and their souls one day

John young
Ah ah
John Young, he's gone, bang bang, long gone, John Young, he's gone, bang bang, long gone

Lyrics submitted by zack perry.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>