Jimmy Was Always Thinking

Antiskeptic

now mandy, tell me, tell me something about here, now where you are did you arrive on halley's comet? or fall off a shooting star? fun and games, till your days are over and mum and dad and they're so proud would you go out with me on friday? why are you scared of the big crowd?jimmy was always, always thinking i'm here now where you are jimmy was always, always thinking of loving this shooting star
i'm here now wasting time
jimmy was always, always thinking
always thinking
always thinking
always thinking of where you are always thinking
always thinking
always thinking, of where you, aremandy i know you're four years older but boy and gosh girl you're so fine you've got me sitting here for hours writing this little ditty rhyme one day i know we'll be together one day i'll be understood and we will fall in love together well that's my plan, touching wood
