

Old Lace (To John)

Emily Bindiger

Sun kisses me just like you, and reminds me of the things that you do;
Love, want filled in your eyes, tells me that you tell me no lies;
And when you say that you care, I no longer need to ask why or where;
But can't you see we're living in a dream, high above the clouds so very high it would seem;
And since into this life we're born with no right to choose, like always there comes a time when it's no longer used;
I wonder now how long our together can last, I think about the future right now not seasons past;
Don't you know that when you've gone in silence I'll cry, it's gonna be hard but we simply have to say goodbye...
Daybreak touches my face, gently like the feel of old lace;
Sun kisses me just like you, and reminds me of the things that you do;
But now you see we're living in a dream, high above the clouds so very high it would seem;
And since into this life we're born with no right to choose, like always there comes a time when it's no longer used;
Like always there comes a time when it's value we lose.ı»¿
