Go Fly (feat. Tim Snider)

Satsang

Go Fly â€“ Satsang, Tim Snider

Verse 1:
Well Iâ€™ve been waiting for the day when everyone will say Enough!
Well and the stores will all align, and weâ€™ll see that we donâ€™t need their stuff
But that day, it hasnâ€™t come. When it does Iâ€™ll be the one who sings
To the spirit and the people, that not only are we equal, we have wings

Chorus:
I said You might not remember but before you were born you could fly
And you will once again, in this life after you die
But you can learn to do it here, but you must cast away the fear
And just go fly. Go fly

Instrumental

Verse 2:
And I see these moments keep collecting and my soul keeps resurrecting
And I say oh my-y
When I sing our mantras for protection and with careful selection theyâ€™ll apply
Is this exactly how it is, that this is hers and this is his I donâ€™t think
But it ainâ€™t my place to figure out, so Iâ€™ll just pay attention in between the lanes

Chorus:
I said You might not remember but before you were born you could fly
And you will once again, in this life after you die
But you can learn to do it here, but you must cast away the fear
And just go fly. Go fly

Verse 3:
Iâ€™ve been burning up a-ways, and Iâ€™m still learning how to pray, and how to guide
When I found my balance in reflection and my perfect imperfections, whatâ€™s right?
Well our impermanence is perfect, and itâ€™ll work if you just work it this is true
Keep marching parallel with ground and Iâ€™ll keep on praying with this sound,
How â€˜bout you?

Chorus:
I said You might not remember but before you were born you could fly
And you will once again, in this life after you die
But you can learn to do it here, but you must cast away the fear

And just go fly. Go fly. Go fly. Go fly.
