

Yesterday, Today, Forever

Cliff Richard

When did you become the topic of conversation,
When did you become this country's Popular myth
Seems that overnight you caught
Everybody's attention
Everybody sings about you and your name
Bounces off their lips When did you become superstar of
This generation
And when did you become commercial property
Everybody's got their own sweet lord,
Hear them sing
Looking here, looking there but they just don't Seem sweet Were you a guru, a godly man,
Or where you a genius, the best in the land I read in the paper that you were back in fashion
Amongst the famous men you were high on the list
Don't they realise that fashion's a passing fancy The truth is yesterday, today, forever
You'll be staying
Yesterday, today, forever never wavering
You stated who you were and that will Never change
Like it or not you'll always be the same
Son of god Like it or not, yesterday, today, forever (x6)
Yesterday, today, forever, like it or not

Songwriters

CLIFF RICHARD Published by

Lyrics © CARLIN AMERICA INC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>