The Piano Song

A Cursive Memory

Welcome to my dreamiest nightmare
When you're so close but you never get there
There's still some things you need to say to me
Because my love, you're my farthest destinyI never thought I'd say this again
Three words that you never said
The one phrase that breaks a heart in two
'Cause angel, I love youIf I could turn the clock again
It's the same three words I wish I never said
The phrase that breaks a heart in two
'Cause angel, I love youAngel, you're the closest thing
That I've wanted most but you still can't see
I say five vowels and three syllables
They're unnoticed, and you're so dreamableI never thought I'd say this again
Three words that you never said
The one phrase that breaks a heart in two
'Cause angel, I love youIf I could turn the clock again
It's the same three words I wish I never said
The phrase that breaks a heart in two
'Cause angel, I love youIf I could turn the clock again
It's the same three words I wish I never said
The phrase that breaks a heart in two
'Cause angel, I love youIf I could turn the clock again
It's the same three words I wish I never said
The phrase that breaks a heart in two
'Cause angel, I love youAngel, you were the closest thing
That I've wanted
