

Between Stars

Underworld

I drive too fast
Under a full moon
Save the best to last
Under a full moon
And pray you don't crash
Under a full moon
When the head's too far out of whack
Step back, step back
Step back, step back
Step back, step back
Step back, step back
Step back, step back

And the hope of the world
Rides with one man
And everybody crying
On the telephone ringing
We hold our breath, we spin around the world
You and me cling to the outside of the earth
Under a full moon

I got you on my brain again, again
And I hear your voice on a northbound bus
Chinatown to Chinatown

And the hope of the world
Rides with one man
And everybody crying
On the telephone ringing
We hold our breath, we spin around the world
You and me cling to the outside of the earth
Under a full moon

Will you hold my camera
Will you press release
Will you capture me
As the lights go down

And the hope of the world
Rides with one man

And everybody crying
On the telephone ringing
We hold our breath, we spin around the world
You and me cling to the outside of the earth
Under a full moon

(Step back, step back)
(Step back, step back)
(Step back, step back)
(Step back, step back)

Don't wait for me, I'm always late
It's in my blood, in the stone
I feel the world go 'round, I feel the world go 'round
