

Sunrise

Tonedeff

[Hook]

The night has been so dark and cold
I want to walk all alone in the sunrise

In the sunrise[Verse 1]

When the day is done

And I can't breathe, no I can't see

No, no with my eyes on fire

Yeah, with my eyes on fire

I feel like I'm working every single day of the week

And I can't sleep, no no, with my heart on fire

Yeah, with my heart on fire[Hook X2][Verse 2]

Do you wanna live? I wanna remember what it feels like

To be embedded in a real life

When the deal's dicey and it's evident it's another surreal night

Then I'm f'in to check if the lid on my head is sealed tight

Cause I would give anything to replenish the dream inside

Tethered together by a steel line

Drawing its heat from the light, deprived

Reaching for Helios' height's

Leaning without a means to survive, till the ceiling divides

I hid every bit of esteem and concealed it inside

Cause when you need to feed on it, then it eats you alive

Cause when you believe that you're right and nobody's seeing your side

You tend to agree - I don't need another reason to die

People can turn a blind eye and you've gotta pardon them

When your character flaw is a self-imposed martyrdom

Part of the prob is shock it exists

It's seen but never felt like a victim describing a shot to a witness

Isn't this just coincidence? The shit's a mess

Missing photosynthesis in this den I'm imprisoned within

It's a sin as I wither away

As if business will give me the pleasure that flickers and fades as I live in this haze

I wanna be riddled with millions of rays on the skin of my face

Till the cinnamon pigment is colored crimson in shade

And I've been in the gray and I'm sick of waiting

And I don't want to wonder anymore if the sun has risen today

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>