Way Too Much

George Canyon

She never meant for him to love her
He only wanted to feel her touch
And now he's in way over his head
And he loves her way too much
Way too much
Her heart is restless as the wild horses
That roam the plains in clouds of dust
Some men would try to break her spirits
But he loves her way too much
Way too much
Way too much to feel the danger
Way too much to sheild his heart
Too far gone to ever want to change her
'Cause he loves her way too much
Way too much
In peaceful sleep his arms around her
The tender smile she's learned to trust
He's unaware but the truth astounds him
She loves him way too much
Way too much
Way too much to feel the danger
Way too much to sheild her heart
Too far gone to ever want to change him
'Cause she loves him way too much
Way too much
Way too much to feel the danger
Way too much to sheild his heart
Too far gone to ever want to change her
'Cause he loves her way too much
Way too much
Way too much

Songwriters
RODMAN, JUDY/BERINATI, LEA JANE/BAILEY, DANNYPublished by Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/