Something Else

Amanda Wilkinson

The morning after the night before, I'm still feeling the glow
Is this what they write those songs about, maybe so
Your whispers echo inside my heart, your kiss is still on my lips
A certain something is telling me, this is itThere's something in the fire, you start each time you hold me
Something in the way I melt
I know just one thing, it's nothing like I've ever felt
Boy, this ain't just something, this is really something elseI don't know where this is gonna go, I don't know where it might end
We've got from now till forever, baby, until then
I'll surrender myself to you, I'll let go and let love
Take my hand and change my world and fill me upThere's something in the fire, you start each time you hold me
Something in the way I melt
I know just one thing, it's nothing like I've ever felt
Boy, this ain't just something, this is really something else

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/