Look No Further

Beverley Craven

I saw your head turn, as she crossed the street,
And I knew instinctively your eyes would meet,
You held that conversation without words,
And I stood there staring,
Do my eyes give away what I'm trying to say?
Look no further, 'cos I know we were meant for each other,
Look no further, I want to be in your life,
Look no further, 'cos I know we were meant for each other,
Look no further, oooh no.I heard the phone ringing, why d'you close the door?
You whisper secretly that it's hard to talk,
Beyond infatuation you've never known,
Your enemy is your ego,
What I'm trying to say is a dead giveaway,Look no further, 'cos I know, we were meant for each other,
Look no further, I want to be in your life,
Look no further, 'cos I know we were meant for each other,
Look no further, oooh no.Look no further, 'cos I know, we were meant for each other,
Look no further, I want to be in your life,
Look no further, 'cos I know, we were meant for each other,
Look no further, oooh no.
