Keep It All

Lisa Hannigan

For you, we steer a house of smoke and brick and I keep it all For you, bedecked with bicycles to pick and I keep it all For you, it wouldn't do wandering all adrift so I keep it all For you, there's fire in the belly of our ship, I keep it all
Call if the lights on, come in and lay low Just so that you know, go on and Fall down and hold your ground, A harbour that grows And how could you know, that i keep it all
For you we fill our sails with tales and fables i keep it all For you, to bear you through stormy seas unstable and i keep it all, For you, you're welcome to all that's on my table i keep it all and you, I count you til i fall asleep, I keep it all.

Call if the lights on, come in and lay low Just so that you know, go on and Fall down and hold your ground, A harbour that grows And how could you know, that i keep it all
What you say we come up with the sun, the morning bell to come and be my friend until the end I'll be your friend as well woah oh oh oh!
