

Her Portrait in Black

Atreyu

Hold your breath quiet now dont say a word
You could run (but) it wont do any good
Prayers forsaken when you lose faith inside
It's not time to dieYour life
Is it a lie

When you get what your looking for
Your craves subside
Or will you crawl into
A casket
An early tomb

Lay down and give up inside
She'd rather dieWhen you fall
So spent from emotion
She is what

Brings you to your feet
Where challenges lie
On the verge of destruction
She pulls you back
And she gives you wings

(death wont hold you as tight as she will)Can you feel her
running through your veins
She will always live forever
(Can you bear the burden?)Can you feel her
running through your veins
She will always live forever

(Can you bear the burden?)[verse 3] you'll turn your back, you'll patronize
She's pleading

You will question your every want
She's bleeding out
She's bleeding out

She's bleeding outDeath won't hold you as tight as she willCan you feel her blood run through your veins
She will always live forever
(Can you bear the burden?)

Can you feel her burning through your veins
She will always live forever[Guitar Solo]She's bleeding out
She's bleeding out

She's bleeding out[heart beat gradually slows]Death won't hold you as tight as she willCan you feel her running through your veins

She will always live forever
(Can you bear the burden?)
Can you feel her running through your veins
She will always live forever
(Can you bear the burden?)Can you feel her running through your veins
She will always live forever
(Can you bear the burden?)
Can you feel her running through your veins
She will always live forever
