

Wherever

Mew

It doesn't matter where you are
Someone is there with you, I fear
It doesn't matter where you are
I can't complain, ignore the stain Christmas day is over
Lights out, breathe slower
Cannot sleep, open your eyes
Look outside, tell your goodbyes It doesn't matter where you are
When you're alone
Light a small fire
I don't like your sparkles at all Guitarist and his centerfold
Why is that fire old?
A green light is a red light in your dreams tonight
It's like a battle, battle Christmas day is over
Lights out, breathe slower
I told you why I am lonely, but you can't stay
Tomorrow, streets, blank faces stare unwilling But there are so few, cannot sleep
Open your eyes, look outside
Tell your goodbyes, cannot sleep
Open your eyes, look outside
Tell your goodbyes And I'll be waiting around your house
I don't mind waiting around your house
My Commodore 64 is my friend
I thought I could have some more of my friends
