I donÂ´t care

Ika

Who knows which one of us will stay
I think it's time for making it real again
I know it's hard to say goodbye
But if we try we might get the feel againYeah, who knows which one of us will stay
And either way these things we don't comprehend
To put our differences apart
Then we can start by making amends againHow can I live in the past now
I'm trying to think the future
We always live in the past now
We should be living the futureI don't really care about it
Nothing stays the same
I don't really care about it
Nothing seems to changeI don't really care about it
Nothing stays the same
I don't really care about it
Nothing seems to changeI know which one of us will leave
Hard to conceive that we'd ever fall again
And in the end I know we'll see
That you and me will finally breathe againHow can I live in the past now
I'm trying to think the future
We always live in the past now
We should be living the futureI don't really care about it
Nothing stays the same
I don't really care about it
Nothing seems to changeI don't really care about it
Nothing stays the same
I don't really care about it
Nothing seems to changeWho are you
To take all the pain away
Sometimes I feel like I wanna do
If I were you I'd be trying to change myselfI don't really care about it
Nothing stays the same
I don't really care about it
Nothing seems to changeI don't really care about it
Nothing stays the same
I don't really care about it

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/