

Broken Heart

Tramp's White Lion

You're hiding from love
You see, you don't need it
    But if that were true
You could take it or leave it
Well, you gotta learn to walk
    But you're afraid of fallin'
        Off the line like a shot
    Then it's back to crawling
How can it stop if you won't let it start?
    I build it up and you tear it apart
It's so hard to love a girl with a broken heart
    I love a girl with a broken heart
        You still lickin' your wounds
        And girl, you're no stranger
        To blood, sweat and tears
    And a heart scared from anger
        We got a love that you find
        Maybe once in a lifetime
        But you can't hide
    From from a memory of the first time
How can it stop if you won't let it start?
    I build it up and you tear it apart
It's so hard to love a girl with a broken heart
    I love a girl with a broken heart
        How can it stop if you won't let it start?
    I build it up and you rip it apart
It's so hard to love a girl with a broken heart
    I love a girl with a broken heart

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>