Epilogue

Catch 22

Two, three, fourWhy would a man who believed in no God Sacrifice all he had To kill or be killed in pursuit of a cause
Was the fate that called to himAnd you can say he might be crazy
And some can't understand
That a life spent doing less
Than all you can would be a wasteThere's only one way to truly succeed
And it's not through intervention
To influence the minds of the rest of mankind
Will best serve your intentionsYou can say he might be crazy
And some can't understand
That a life spent doing less
Than all you can would be a wasteIf you just can't make the world what you want
At least you can make yourself
An example for others to learn from and see
The future for themselvesAnd you can say he might be crazy
And some can't understand
That a life spent doing less
Than all you can would be a wasteLife would be a waste
Life would be a waste

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/