

Art & a Wife

Rah Rah

I used to have a guitar though i didnt know what for and i would play along to some old country songs shoot me to the core

then i got an amp and i learned to make some noise and i would play along to some crazy horse songs until it felt right now i just want a life

full of art and a wife
full of heart just right
full of art and a wife

and then i got a band we drove around in a van played some shows made some fans
we crushed a few cans drove around in a van

i used to have a song i would sing for every girl i used to want to make out make out with every girl

but now i just want a life
full of art and a wife
full of heart just right
full of art and a wife

I used to have your love but you tore it from my hands you tore it from my heart like a soiled work of love it aint never going back to how it was you used to believe in me and the gospel that i sung in the poetry i wrote like a king behind his moat

I kind of hid away from everyone

but now i just want a life
full of art and a wife
full of heart just right
full of art and a wife

full of art and a wife
full of art and a wife
full of art and a wife

Lyrics submitted by Andy Kenyon.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>