

Against My Better Judgment

Further Seems Forever

with starving appetites for arguments you remind me of a secret i was never supposed to tell the time is up, the verdict's in everybody's right, everybody wins the time is up, the verdict's in everybody's right, everybody wins didn't know you were a saint what a shameful fall from grace but i'll catch you, i'll catch you everybody's waiting for that something they can hold onto while tripping over all our words to self dug graves for an excuse to fall 'cause every failure's just as sweet as the last the time is up, the verdict's in everybody's right, everybody wins
the time is up, the verdict's in everybody's right, everybody wins did you know we're the same
what a shameful fall from grace
but i'll catch you, i'll catch you
everybody's waiting for that something they can hold onto i'm tripping over all our words
to self dug graves for an excuse to fall
'cause every failure's just as sweet as the last as a dream comes when there are many cares so the speech of a fool when there are many words the sun it misses summer in winter didn't you know we wear the same the same pretentious name let's trade for a while, i'm so curious everybody's waiting for that something they can hold onto while tripping over all our words
to self dug graves for an excuse to fall
'cause every failure's just as sweet as the last every failure's just as sweet as the last

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>