To Be Like You

Malina

Restless in my bones, too much lead in my belly, oh Into my headphones the thrill of a hunter's songAs I look through the train and the window and the raindrops I get rid of a ghost haunting meEvery move used to be so slow, trying to be like you
Any sign couldn't let me know,
'cause I had to see it throughI never thought I could get out of this crowded hell
'Cause I'm not alone, I ain't the only one Drowning in doubt, hiding in my shell
If you could only see that I am bearing all this fight
To be honest on every sideEvery move used to be so slow,
trying to be like you
Any sign couldn't let me know,
'cause I had to see it throughThat's what you get when you sacrify your kid inside
To be someone you will never be
And I will never be like that.
