

When You See Me

Car Party

Well, I think that I'm in trouble now.
We broke the rules and let those feelings out.
And how many times did we insist we had to shut it down?
But I'd had plenty and you had one too many.
And I knew it when we left the bar.
So now we're left in a dangerous mess to find out who we are.

The price I paid that night won't leave my head.
And when you see me,
I feel the panic and see your face turn red.
I just want those times back. Times that I'll never forget.
I wish the price I payed that night hurt me instead.

Well, I think that we're in trouble now.
I try to talk, and you don't make a sound.
I just want to see that same old smile on you when I'm around.
But I'd had plenty and you had one too many.
And I knew it couldn't get us far.
So now we're left in a dangerous mess to find out who we are.

I'm stuck on how we used to be.
And I'll take any little piece
Of you that I can keep around.

The price I paid that night won't leave my head.
And when you see me,
I feel the panic and see your face turn red.
I just want those times back. Times that I'll never forget.
I wish the price I payed that night hurt me instead.

It's been a long night.
And on the drive back home,
back home is all we can think about.
I want the same things,
The same things as you.
and I can read your lips, they're screaming over the doubts.
It's been a long night.
And on the drive back home,

back home is all we can think about.

I want the same things,
The same things as you.
and I can read your lips,
they're screaming.
