

Spark

Ghost Town

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

I can imagine myself on my death bed
Spent utterly with the lust to touch the next world
Oh father, i confess my sins
Like secrets in my soul hidden under my mattress I've slept with faith and found
My arms bound behind my back
My life is upside down
I can see it clearly now
My eyes close tight
Technicolor's spillin' out We are the spark that lights the flame
In every end
We start it all over again
We are, we are
The ones to blame
In every end
We start it all over again It's all up to you
You live or you burn
You win and you lose
It's all up to you
You live or you burn
But you gotta choose We are the spark that lights the flame
In every end
We start it all over again All the screws in our head are being tightened
Now we live In a world of constantly being frightened
Watch the TV screen, they say 'that's all you need
Burn the books and pick up the magazines. I've slept with faith and found
My arms bound behind my back
My life upside down
I can see it clearly now
My eyes close tight
Technicolor's spillin' out We are the spark that lights the flame
In every end
We start it all over again

We are, we are
The ones to blame
In every end
We start it all over againIt's all up to you
You live or you burn
You win and you lose
It's all up to you
You live or you burn
But you gotta chooseWe are the spark that lights the flame
In every end
We start it all over againMake our mark in the dark
Like we've done from the start
It's time to live from the heart
That's what sets us apart
Save the world from its self
It all starts with a spark
With this spark we will fuel it
I can't imagine my thoughts being unsaidWe are the spark that lights the flame
In every end
We start it all over again
We are, we are
The ones to blame
In every end
We start it all over againIt's all up to you
You live or you burn
You win and you lose
It's all up to you
You live or you burn
But you gotta chooseWe are the spark that lights the flame
In every end
We start it all over again

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>