

Woman

Tina Arena

I've seen it all I've soaked it in I've taken breaths in world's, you've never been Under influence I've tasted kisses Do you know what it feels like It was beautiful, but there was no suspense For a woman Do you know what it's really like When the love is right When you brave the fight When you're a woman I've walked the line And come home alive Put on a skirt even when it hurt, just to satisfy I've been undermined 'Cause I've learned to abide Do you know what it's really like Not allowed to cry I understand, I need to be a man, just to survive
When the love is right For a woman Do you know what it's really like When you brave the fight And come home alive I can change your world When you're a woman I can sing you lullaby's at night I can give you life I can see your eyes Before they flicker blind I can rescue you in the nick of time What it feels like, For a woman Oh, don't you know, When the love is right When you brave the fight And come home alive Do you know, what it's really like Yes, I'm a woman I'm a woman [Thanks to chazz@voila.fr for these lyrics]
