

Surrender (Album Superstition 2014)

The Birthday Massacre

Tonight they're calling out your name
A light across the river
They're coming for you
Let me in and I'll explain So dark outside here
I'm afraid I'll disappear
I know you're in there
I sense your fear Surrender
I know you are hiding here
Come, my dear
You can hide in the night while I'm waiting here, all alone When you're sleeping, I'm out here watching at your window
Can't you see me?
You and I, we are the same So cold outside here
I'm afraid you'll disappear
I know you are in there
Just let me in Surrender
I know you are hiding here
Come, my dear
You can hide in the night while I'm waiting here, all alone Surrender, and we can disappear
Come, my dear
By the end of the night we'll be far from here, all alone Now I know where you're hiding, and I want you to notice
The river is rising
I want you to know this Surrender
I know you are hiding here
Come, my dear
You can hide in the night while I'm waiting here, all alone
Surrender, and we can disappear
Come, my dear
By the end of the night we'll be far from here, all alone

Songwriters

SARA TAYLOR, MICHAEL HANMER, MICHAEL RAINBOW Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>