

I Should've Listened to Me

Yankee Grey

When you told me, you needed a little time on your own
I kinda lied and said, I'd be alright all alone
My friends said, "Hey man, what can you do?
Let her see what's missing and she'll come back to you"
They all said it was for the best but I knew as I watched you leave I should've listened to me and gotten down on my knees
I heard the words in my heart, don't tear us apart
Come back baby, please
I should've swallowed my pride, I should've broke down and cried
I was the one who knew that you and I were meant to be
I should've listened to me Call it intuition, an instinctual feeling
When you know, you bet it all and your gonna lose everything
That's what I had when you walked out the door
And as each day passes I'm feeling it more and more Now that I'm hear it's all so clear, how I could have made you see I should've listened to me and gotten down on my knees
I heard the words in my heart, don't tear us apart
Come back baby, please
I should've swallowed my pride, I should've broke down and cried
I was the one who knew that you and I were meant to be
Oh, I should've listened
