Just Another Song

Lucy Hale

It's a good day, good cup of coffee to drink
It's a good day, no dishes piled up in the sink
I'm a long way from the place I used to be
It's a good day

Oh, teardrops have gone
Oh, then I hear that song

It takes me to me and you
Black and white movie I made you watch, then we kissed
Oh, I knew I was falling for you and oh, when it's on the radio
That's when it hits me, you're gone
Maybe to you, it's probably just another song

But to me, it's a bullet out of a gun
Yeah, to me, it's a knife and a damn rusty one
It's the floodgated memories I don't want to feel
Oh, it's all just a little too real

Oh, just when the teardrops have gone
Oh, why do I hear that heartbreaking, take-me-back song?

It takes me to me and you
'45 spinning, I made you dance, then we kissed
Oh, I knew I was falling for you and oh, when it's on the radio
That's when it hits me, you're gone
Maybe to you, it's probably just another song

Maybe to you, it's probably just another song
Maybe to you

It takes me to me and you,
Under the street light, you said goodbye, then we kissed
Oh, I knew I was falling into pieces, oh, when it's on the radio
That's when it hits me, you're gone
Maybe to you, it's probably just another song

Maybe to you, it's probably just another song
Maybe to you, it's just a good day
