Flying over darkened skies, the battle will call
Destiny is just calling, well be out of the storm
And the world falls under the starlight
Shining from heavens below Ride the wings of pain and sorrow, searching for more
Gliding on the tracks of pain, just never before
And the stars fall on the horizon
Onwards and up through the pain Ride the wind and fight the demon, steel shining bright
Standing together forever onwards, flames burning strong
I live in hell of pain and sorrow, now and never onwards
We stare into the dawn of a new world Cry out for the fallen heroes, lost some time ago
In our minds, they still live on when the sands of time are gone Rise over shadow mountains, blazing with power
Crossing valleys, endless tears, in unity we stand
Far and wide across the land, the victory is ours
On towards the gates of reason
Fight for the truth and the freedom, Gloria Searching through the memories to open the door
Living on the edge of life like never before
When the crowd chants under the moonlight
Facing their fears all the same Hell is spilling open wide enough for the core
All this time were allied to the angels before
And the world cries out from the silence
Lost in the voices unknown Don't deny the force of evil, cries into the night
Living before in the seas of darkness, now they're all gone
Out from the shadows storming on the wings of revelations
Your soul will feel no mercy behind the door Hold on for the morning after, never to let go
When the fire's burning strong
And the time to try and hold on Rise over shadow mountains, blazing with power
Crossing valleys, endless tears, in unity we stand
Far and wide across the land, the victory is ours
On towards the gates of reason
Fight for the truth and the freedom, Gloria Cry out for the fallen heroes, lost some time ago
In our minds, they still live on when the sands of time are gone Rise over shadow mountains, blazing with power
Crossing valleys, endless tears, in unity we stand

Far and wide across the land, the victory is ours
On towards the gates of reason
Fight for the truth and the freedom, Gloria, Gloria, Gloria
