

Paradise

Clementine & the Galaxy

In the dead of night as we make it through the great divide Spirals in our eyes spinning out of time racing by Twisting like a maze a kaleidoscope of sound surround Running out of light tearing through the sky Ride all night through this paradise
And if you open wide you will realize that everything happens tonight Solar cosmic dust wipe away the rust from your heart Hyper color touch fading like the dusk to the dark Plastic universe thinking in reverse slowing down
At the speed of light tearing through the sky Ride all night through this paradise
And if you open wide you will realize that everything happens tonight the moment of eclipse when the future slips past our eyes we won't make a sound as we touch the ground we arrive
the moment of eclipse when the future slips past our eyes Ride all night through this paradise
And if you open wide you will realize that everything happens tonight
