All For None

Dunderhead

Vers:

I am getting old, free and longing after for the grave
This is the last scream from the dead mans cave
My heart has gone cold, just how lonesome old lady on the run
I think my time here should end, I think I'm done

REF.

I have given all but now I'm empty as a bottle of a drunk
To get all abord but now the ship has sunk
Now I know that you just pretended
I'm lost without a friend
As you might expect it's one for all
And all for none

Vers

I haven't always been like this
I was once happy and young
Like the world was at my feet, feeling strong
I was even cute, or at least you told I was made for your life
But I've been destroyed, deminished after all our goodbyes

REF.

I have given all but now I'm empty as a bottle of a drunk
To get all abord but now the ship has sunk
Now I know that you just pretended
I'm lost without a friend
As you might expect it's one for all
And all for none

Vers

You proven that I should be thickskinned after all I been through
It is one thing that gets me and that one thing is you
Not even my kids want to see me, I have lost everything
It wasn't me that put my heart on a string

REF.

I have given all but now I'm empty as a bottle of a drunk
To get all abord but now the ship has sunk
Now I know that you just pretended
I'm lost without a friend
As you might expect it's one for all
And all for none

As you might expect it's one for all and all for none
As you might expect it's one for all... And all for none.

Lyrics Submitted by Emmyvirginia

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/