

Sour Grapes

Honeydogs

Twenty-eight, twenty-six
The three alarm at five o'clock
Sirens getting louder
Saw you in your K car
T-boned by the road star
Walkin' off with out a scratchIt's easy to break
It's the waiting that kills you
It's hard to say
I think we're going down soonSour grapes, yeah, we've got 'em
Don't need rain, just a glass of water
Yeah, it's lonely at the bottom
It takes everything I've got
From sinking like a stoneGrease is covering up the lens
It's hard to see, sitting in the nose bleeds
Found your bag of fishing lures
Never found the one that got away
Are you missing what you never had?It's easy to break
It's the waiting that kills you
It's hard to say
I think we're going down soonSour grapes, yeah, we've got 'em
Don't need rain, just a glass of water
Yeah, it's lonely at the bottom
It takes everything I've got
From sinking like a stoneDid you have a good time there?
Did you settle the lines there?
Did you finally find what you need?Never knew there were two
Ten o'clocks in the same day
Lying on your back
You're tired of staring at the ceiling
When are we leaving?It's easy to break
It's the waiting that kills you
It's hard to say
I think we're going down soonSour grapes, yeah, we've got 'em
Don't need rain, just a glass of water
Yeah, it's lonely at the bottom
It takes everything I've got
From sinking like a stoneSour grapes, yeah, we've got 'em
Don't need rain, just a glass of water
Yeah, it's lonely at the bottom

It takes everything I've got
From sinking like a stone
