

Open Road (i Love Her)

Chris Brown

Verse 1:

Yeah, huh, and every time I'm looking at her,
All the pieces in my mind make a perfect picture,
Yeah, and every time we on the phone,
Sitting down reminiscing bout the times we are alone,
And I, tell you stores bout the stupid thing's I do,
Listening to every word of every thing you tell me to,
And I, tell the world that your beautiful and kind,
Making sure that everyday that I will try to make you mine,
But you, never notice me,
You never spoke to me,
So everything inside my head is what is suppose to be,
You never look at me,
You're overlooking me

Standing like a ghost watching every time you walk by me,
Huh, if only you would understand,
The power of a woman easily could kill a man,
- But I continually stand,
Wishing for the day to come I hopefully can hold your hand.

Verse 2:

Walking in the shadows of my,
Own reflection looking at my suicide,
Never mind make her mine even in the afterlife,
Would she mind, she never even noticed me alive,
So she probably would never notice if I took my life,
Huh, if only you would understand,
The power of a woman easily could kill a man,
- But I continually stand,
Wishing for the day to come I hopefully can hold your hand.
