The Ocean

Noah Gundersen

Set your eyes, love
Set your eyes, oh, west against the morning Cause I have no warning of this
When they come to wake me upSet your sights, love Set your sights, oh far across the ocean Cause if I never touched the ocean
I would only come back home to sleepBut oh my sight, am I alright?
am I alright?Cut your ties, love Cut your ties and say I never knew you But they'll see right through you
And you cannot run and hideBut keep the faith, love Keep the faith though I know it's gonna bring you,
I know it's gonna bring you downBut though the devil may not take you, you never will escape this loveBut oh my sights,
am I alright?
am I alright?But still this burning in my throat Is going through all of the motions
And I will someday come to my home
And maybe one day I will reach the ocean

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/