Hole In My Soul

Foreigner

I can feel these four walls around me
I can feel them closing in on me
But I know there's someone out there
Ready and waiting for the chance to set me free
I don't want nothing, ain't looking for no one
You walk into my life
Well, I ain't no hopeless romantic
I've gotta listen to my cautious heart
I've been dealing with my illusions of love
I built it up and then I tear it apart
And I feel this rising suspicion
That my heart will ever rule my mind
Well, I'm guilty of love by my own admission
Come on, girl, let me do my time
Hey, when I call you
I need to fill the hole in my soul
Hey, when I fall through
I need to fill the hole in my soul
Don't need no sisters of mercy
They set me off like a loaded gun
Ain't nothing in this world possessing me

Honey, you're the only one
Can't live in this empty sadness
It's more than we can endure
Well, wise men say that love is madness
Come on, girl, I say love is the cure
Hey, when I call you
I need to fill the hole in my soul
Hey, when I fall through
I need to fill the hole in my soul
Hey, without you
I will fall through the hole in my soul
Hey, when I call you
I need to fill the hole in my soul
Hey, when I fall through
I need to fill the hole in my soul
Hey, without you
I will fall through the hole in my soul

Hey, I need you
I need you to fill the hole in my soul
Hey, I want you to fill the hole in my soul
Hey, hey, hey, I need you to fill the hole in my soul
