

Wasted Words

George Jones

The wasted words about an old love affair
You don't love me, you don't care. I tried so hard to forget the thing that used to be
But it's so easy to remember a few old memories
Just when I think I'm doing fine someone speaks your name
And I have to talk about though I know it's all in vain. The wasted words about an old love affair
You don't love me, you don't care. An old friend tries to tell me that I shouldn't feel so blue
But that old friend he just don't know the love I have for you
Forget the past and have some fun go out with someone new
But it's so hard to turn the pages when I know no one but you.

Songwriters

DAVID GIBSON, / ROSA Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>